

Notes on how to install or use MATLAB

- You can use MATLAB through MATLAB Online (in this link without downloading and installing it. Once you sign up for and sign in to the Mathworks account with your student METU mail you can open an online session by clicking the "Open MATLAB Online" button on the page. You will be directed to the online MATLAB user interface and ready for programming.
- You can install MATLAB on your local machine through METU's licensed software center on this link. You should have a VPN connection to access the campus network. You can get VPN using this link. However, this option will take much longer since the VPN connection restricts the download speed and MATLAB's download size is quite large.
